

Universal Declaration of Human Rights

- Date ■ December 10, 1948
- Place ■ Palais de Chaillot, Paris, France
- Type of Source ■ Government Document/International Accord (official copy in English, French, Spanish, Arabic, Russian, and Chinese)
- Author ■ United Nations General Assembly, based on a draft written by John Peter Humphrey and added to by the UN Commission on Human Rights.
- Historical Context ■ After World War II and the discovery of Axis atrocities, the United Nations decided to specify the human rights mentioned generally in the UN Charter. The Declaration passed unanimously with eight abstentions (Soviet Union, Ukrainian SSR, Byelorussian SSR, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, South Africa, and Saudi Arabia). Although many of its provisions are not yet to be fully realized, the Declaration has provided the basis for all later international human rights agreements.

PREAMBLE

WHEREAS recognition of the inherent dignity and of the equal and inalienable rights of all members of the human family is the foundation of freedom, justice and peace in the world,

WHEREAS disregard and contempt for human rights have resulted in barbarous acts which have outraged the conscience of mankind, and the advent of a world in which human beings shall enjoy freedom of speech and belief and freedom from fear and want has been proclaimed as the highest aspiration of the common people,

WHEREAS it is essential, if man is not to be compelled to have recourse, as a last resort, to rebellion against tyranny and oppression, that human rights should be protected by the rule of law,

WHEREAS it is essential to promote the development of friendly relations between nations,

WHEREAS the peoples of the United Nations have in the Charter reaffirmed their faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person and in the equal rights of men and women and have determined to promote social progress and better standards of life in larger freedom,

WHEREAS Member States have pledged themselves to achieve, in co-operation with the United Nations, the promotion of universal respect for and observance of human rights and fundamental freedoms,

WHEREAS a common understanding of these rights and freedoms is of the greatest importance for the full realization of this pledge,

Now, Therefore THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY proclaims THIS UNIVERSAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS as a common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations, to the end that every individual and every organ of society, keeping this Declaration constantly in mind, shall strive by
