

Confucian Social Structure

Scholars

Scholars were the most important class. They were teachers as well as leaders by example.

Farmers

Farmers were very important. Without farmers society would soon collapse from starvation.

Artisans

Artisans were valuable but not essential to survive. They made tools that helped other classes.

Merchants

Merchants were the least respected workers since they did not make anything.

